

Waralungku House Residencies

Expressions of interest from individuals or organisations.

Waralungku House is a self-contained accommodation unit set among the trees on the grounds of the Waralungku Art Centre. Waralungku House was developed to accommodate artistic, scholarly and community wellbeing residencies. We welcome applications from individuals or organisations who wish to undertake projects in Borroloola that would benefit from being onsite among our artists, their families and community supporters.

Tell us a bit about what you would like do:

- What is your area of practice?
- What would you like to achieve and why you would like to be resident at Waralungku to undertake the work?
- How will your proposal benefit Waralungku Arts and/or the wider community?
- Anything else that you think is important for us to consider?

How long would you like to stay?

- Do you have fixed dates or are they flexible?
- How many people will you be with?

Which of the following does your proposal most closely relate to?

- Artist/Practitioner residency
- Research residency
- Community wellbeing project
- Something else? (please explain)

Do you have independent funding to contribute to the cost of your residency (i.e. use of accommodation), or are you seeking in-kind support from us (free accommodation)?

Note: during 2022-23 we will have a small number of paid residencies that will be available to applicants who don't have alternative funding and who are assessed as contributing to specific training needs that we currently have.

In general though, we encourage applications that have independent funding and therefore bring new income streams into our community.
